German Engineer Held As A-Research Spy

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—An engineer of microelectronics has been arrested on suspicion of spying in West Germany's nuclear research center, the federal attorney's office has reported.

Confirming recent rumors about the espionage case, a spokesman yesterday said Harald Gottfried, 33, who entered this country from Communist East Germany in 1955, was arrested Sept. 21 on suspicion of having worked for the East Berlin Ministry for State Security.
